

I've just been offered one day a week work teaching music. The last time I worked my wife's pension was cut by almost the amount I'd earned.

Why would I bother working?

If you really want older people to work, stop punishing them for doing so.

P.S. Your “ Individual Details” and “ Submission Topics” available selections are woefully inadequate.

e.g. Closest employment status for me is “ Retired” , while my wife and I are really struggling living off her pension (I'm 59 yrs and not entitled to anything), I actively seek work wherever I can find it.
