

Dear Kelly,

We met before the meeting in Wantirna tonight.

Firstly congratulations on a successful meeting. The Governments intent to take initiatives are very timely and welcome.

You outlined enforcement of the FIRB Regulations, active policing, righting the wrong, and thoughtful consideration of a broad range of issues.

For what it is worth, we the public, can assist the reporting of suspected breaches of the rules and that should be encouraged. While it may be un-Australian to do somebody in, it certainly is not un-Australian to take action to prevent exploitation of our country and its laws by those that have no national interest only self interest. You the politicians can ride the public service to ensure they never have disregard for the rules such as shown by FIRB. Their actions raise serious issues about their direction, competence and willingness to ensure needed foreign investment is properly and effectively directed to national interest.

You must continue to prosecute this issue for us Australians and I am sure you are aware that there is a cadre of Australians that currently do not accept this sell out of our country and are getting annoyed with some ethnic groups impact on our culture as they buy up suburbs, disrespect our neighborhoods and do not integrate into our community. We have all the makings of potential racial disharmony and early remedial action could well be appropriate.

As rightly put by Michael Sukkar, buying existing houses does nothing for our economy and is not in our national interest. Please keep this excellent initiative rolling and be our advocate as you hit the pressure of compromise and from weaker minded individuals in the future.

Kind Regards
Roland Orchard
