

I expect free-range eggs to be raised at a density of no more than 1500 hens per hectare, and for stocking density information to be displayed on the packaging of all eggs. I also expect the free-range standard to include requirements for access for the hens to outdoors and to shelter.