Hello

ASIC have advised that their Section 22, signed the class order yesterday (16 April), but they haven't sent it off for registration on Frlii as yet as they need to make some changes to the explanatory statements given it's now one class order covering a number of topics including choice dashboards, portfolio holdings^{Section 22} (this will be done shortly).

ASIC are still anticipating sending a signed copy of the class order to the industry associations today so they know that, subject to registration, there will be a delay to these requirements.
