Thanks all.

Just a heads-up that today ASIC will announce via press release the delay to our superannuation transparency measures (choice dashboard and portfolio holdings disclosure). There will be no mention of any of the other reforms in the package, as the Government has not yet agreed to an announcement date (as ^{S22} notes below). ASIC will simply state the delay to the transparency reforms allows the Government 'further time to consult on the detail of the requirements'.

I'll forward you ASIC's press release for information once it is released.
