

The definition of a charity should include organisations that have a core focus on health promotion.

Examples cited should include Mens Community Sheds which have a history of benefitting the health and wellbeing of men who participate in the Community Shed environment.

Regards
Bill Johnstone