
PART III

TRANSPARENCY IN ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL DATA

The publication of comprehensive, timely and accurate macroeconomic data covering the activities of both the government and private sectors is a key element in the process of transparency and a necessary adjunct to many elements and processes described in Parts I and II of this report. This Part briefly describes the institutional framework supporting the production of macroeconomic statistics in Australia, before discussing Australia's compliance with the relevant international standard in this area.