

Of course we as individual people, as buyers, as users need the right to repair for cars, equipment, electronics, software.

Stop trying to tie our hands and cause unnecessary economic pressure and environmental damage by allowing companies to create a throw away society with product redundancies and the inability to repair items.

Anne Bee