Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing in regard to the law soon to be put before parliament that will limit withdrawals to $10,000.00, or less this is completely unnecessary and is not going to have any direct effect on money laundering it is only going to cause hardship putting people to trouble running their daily business.

If a control on money is needed the Bank Separation Bill should be passed as soon as possible this would protect all bank customers and there deposits.

I urge you to call on all members of parliament to give this urgent attention

Yours sincerely,
Lindsay D. Cosgrove
