

COVID-19 has destabilised the mental well-being of Australia's workforce

Individuals will be feeling the effects of the pandemic for years to come.

Australian employers need tools that can help them better understand the challenges facing their employees - to manage risk and facilitate early intervention.

ilumen™

ilumen™ is a unique software product designed to aid in the evaluation and monitoring of the mental well-being of a workforce

FOR EMPLOYEES

Early identification of symptoms of depression, anxiety, and stress, and a snapshot they can use to make improvements over time

FOR EMPLOYERS

A dashboard of de-identified data to support and manage the well-being of their workforce while measuring effectiveness of programs

ilumen™ can address these Productivity Commission Recommendations

7.2

Identify and manage risks to mental health in the workplace

7.4

Facilitate early intervention

7.6

Collect and monitor data-driven evidence from employer-initiated interventions for a mentally healthy workplace

FUNDING REQUIRED

With government support, ilumen can be made available to employees Australia-wide in major industries sectors such as mining, financial services, healthcare and education.

TOTAL FUNDING REQUIRED:

$6,000,000
over 2 years

medibio
CORPORATE HEALTH

CLOSING THE LOOP

With ilumen™, employers can measure the success of the programs they implement, saving time and money

