Subject: Fwd: Submission: Changes to governance standard three in the ACNC Regulation

Dear Senior Advisor,

I write to vehemently oppose the proposed changes to the ACNC regulations.

Charities in Australia have become the backbone of practical and financial support for those in immediate need.

The functioning of all charities must be encouraged by Government in every way to simplify and streamline their activities, rather than to hinder them.

Moreover, to have the power to deregister any charity without recourse to natural justice processes is draconian, as well as being fundamentally unnecessary. If there is a problem, it can surely be addressed with positive intervention.

As a taxpayer who donates regularly to many charitable organisations, I am outraged that Government proposes to extend its power so arbitrarily.

These regulations must not be adopted.

Yours sincerely,

Serena Carmel
