

Australia Post Banking.....

I make this submission for Australia Post to be given powers to create and service its own Savings Bank in sincerity and good faith:

With the decreasing numbers of suburban and regional bank branches and ATMs available for public use, it becomes obvious that a new service needs to be made available to the general public.

It is my considered opinion that Australia Post Offices could alleviate this problem by the creation of an Australia Post savings banking system, owned by and serviced through Australia Post branches.

The BIG 4 commercial and savings banks are reducing suburban and regional services more and more, causing untold inconvenience to suburban and rural people. Australia Post does a magnificent job with services it provides to people in suburban and rural living.

I make this submission in seriousness and good faith.

Sincerely,

Leslie T. Kelly
