

---

Treasury, Australian Government,

Without franked dividends, we would be unable to exist. We get nothing from our bank accounts and Centrelink is still classing cash as an income earning means. The yield from shares is miniscule and hard to get by on. With the growing inflation rate, we are now going backwards.

We don't have superannuation and with a small part pension and dividends, franking credits help provide a meagre income for our retirement.

We also support Wilson Asset Management submission to Treasury.

Fay and Ian Bradshaw