

The government should realise that franking credits to self funded retirees assists in keeping the economy going with many recipients using this to fund repainting of their residence as one example. Should Labor persist with this policy it will have the same result as the disastrous 2019 election. And Y am a Labor supporter