

As a soon to be self funded retiree, I endorse the very critical concerns that Wilson Asset Management have conveyed to you in their detailed submission. Having worked in Australia for over forty-two years, my wife and I have planned our retirement strategies with the inclusion of imputation credits to be able to have a comfortable retirement with no Government Pension payments. Many, many other retirees will also be greatly impacted if the ramifications of this proposed amendment is legislated. The previous proposal by the Labor Party to impact imputation credits manifestly led to the Morrison Government being re elected due to its unfair and unjust outcomes. Once again Labor have elected to hit the most vulnerable people [retirees] who are in NO POSITION to recoup any losses to our LIFETIME SAVINGS! To change the rules that people have faithfully utilized for their twilight years is patently unconscionable. To assist the budget back into the black, surely delaying the impending tax cuts to high income earners would be a logical - AND FAIR-start! At least they have time to plan and recoup any anticipated windfalls. To be honest I am extreme disappointed on this attack "by stealth" against companies ability to return imputation credits where appropriate to retired workers. It is events like this that lead to the extreme DISTRUST that we have with our elected representatives - espically the ones that said the Imputation Credit changes was now "DEAD AND BURIED" Blatant lies WILL NEVER BE FORGOTTEN NOR FORGIVEN! PLEASE CONSIGN THIS PROPOSED LEGISLATION TO THE WASTE BIN THAT IT WAS RETRIEVED FROM!

Yours Sincerely
