

To whom this may concern,

I apologise for the late entry.

I am writing this as I believe it is extremely unfair to not recognise a Bachelor of Commerce from a top Western Australian university as one of the Approved Degrees recognised by FASEA standards.

I have a Bachelor of Commerce majoring in Accounting and Finance from the University of Western Australia, as well as completed the FASEA approved bridging courses from Kaplan and have still been denied the opportunity to sit the Financial Advisers Exam. Currently there are no Bachelor Degrees in WA that are recognised by the board and therefore denying anyone studying in WA the opportunity to enter the industry.

Please accept this submission for the consultation process.
