- 14 1. Did the five emerging policy themes Prosperous, Inclusive, Sustainable, Cohesive and Healthy resonate with meeting participants?
No
- 15 If not, why not (200 words)
Puts all measures on the same level. There is a hierarchy. It is far more important that people have access to health services and affordable housing, than we keep Government debt low.
- 16 2. Which of the following themes are most important to you? (Select 3)
Sustainable: A natural environment that is valued and sustainably managed in the face of a changing climate for current and future generations
Healthy: A society in which people feel well and are in good physical and mental health now and into the future
Prosperous: A growing, productive and resilient economy
- 17 3. Which themes or descriptions were most frequently discussed?
(Select 3)
Prosperous: A growing, productive and resilient economy

Sustainable: A natural environment that is valued and sustainably managed in the face of a changing climate for current and future generations

Healthy: A society in which people feel well and are in good physical and mental health now and into the future

18 4. What do you see as the most important issues for future wellbeing?
Are these captured by the emerging policy themes?

Housing - not captured well. Theoretically under prosperous - but there's a tension there between people's access to housing and the money people make off housing. Availability, affordability, and security (some renters forced onto month-to-month leases with nowhere else to go) of housing.

Health - captured in the framework well.

Education - captured in the framework well.

Safety - not sure where it sits, but doesn't appear to be captured. Citizens feeling safe from harm (whether cyber crime or physical crime).

Inclusive and cohesive are not mutually exclusive and overlap heavily.

19 5. How might the descriptions be amended to best reflect our priorities?

The economy bucket should be separated from the 'basic services for human existence' bucket. There is an inherent tension there.

Inclusive and cohesive should be merged - significant overlap in both indicators and in the actual work / activities you'd do to support these.

20 6. Are there any indicators and existing data sources that will be critical to inform the emerging policy themes?

Not sure what this Q means

21 7. Is there any additional information you would like to see in the Measuring What Matters Statement? If so, please outline.

HOUSING - If I can't find a place to live, what does it matter how included I feel?
