I am the 'breadwinner' in my family, earning in a good week $350. My husband is on a Disability pension and we have two kids. One is starting high school next year, the other Kindy. My question is how the hell are we, and other low income families, supposed to be able to afford books, fees, uniforms etc??

We are struggling with high bills now! Or how do I tell my high schooler, No you can't do the specialist programs you've been accepted into, because I can't afford it!
So angry!!
